

Helping Create Families

By Dr. John Frattarelli
CEO of Fertility Institute of Hawaii

As CEO of Fertility Institute of Hawaii, I started the practice in 2011, and over the past five years we have realized tremendous growth. Fertility Institute of Hawaii is now the largest fertility practice in the state, with success rates that rank yearly in the top 10 percent nationally. We recently held our five-year birthday celebration, uniting families that may not have been completed without the help of our state-of-the-art technologies. The event was open to all patients, with more than 600 guests attending.

The reason for throwing this monumental event, and what truly made it so special, was that we were able to bring families together that had gone through similar struggles. To unite them all was truly incredible, empowering them to raise awareness and to know that they are not alone.

Along with Dr. Anatte Karmon, a Harvard-trained specialist, we are two of the world's most successful and experienced infertility physicians, utilizing the most cutting-edge technology and advanced clinical protocols. Dr. Karmon and I have more than 25 years combined experience, and we are two of only a small number of board-certified, fellowship-trained reproductive endocrinologists in Hawaii. We have helped more than 25,000 patients to realize their dreams of starting a family, and have assisted in treatment cycles that have resulted in more than 10,000 babies being born — almost 2,500 of those babies have been right here in Hawaii over the last five years.

Thanks to Fertility Institute of Hawaii's superior success rates and innovative treatments, patients come from Hawaii, North America, Asia and Australia to seek treatment.

Fertility problems are very common, affecting approximately one in six couples. If it is taking longer than six months to conceive or if you know there is a problem, seek help. A simple consult and evaluation may be all that is needed.

In Hawaii, we have multiple locations — Honolulu, Kailua, Maui and Big Island. For more information, please call us at 545-2800, visit ivf-centerhawaii.com or find us on Facebook.
